

SCHOLARSHIP WEBSITES

Two scholarship websites (Yconic and Scholarships Canada) are included, but if you choose to create an account with them, be aware of “fishing” expeditions by companies that offer a single, low-value scholarship in exchange for data collection of multiple applicants (that’s you) or that require you to pay a fee, take out a line of credit or something similar. Be cautious to whom you submit your personal information! Legitimate award offerings shouldn’t come at a cost to the applicant and are usually offered year after year. If you’re at all concerned, visit the Career Centre prior to applying.

Post-Secondary Institutions: Look on the school’s website under: Financial Aid, Entrance Awards and/or Student Services. Application deadlines typically occur between December and March

<http://qecareereducation.ca>

Queen Elizabeth Career Education website: contains a database of over 500 external scholarships. You apply directly to the organization offering the award yconic.

<https://yconic.com/>

Create a profile for free scholarship matching and peer-to-peer support for your life as a student. The site also contains information about contests

<http://www.bced.gov.bc.ca/awards/>

Information about the Provincial Awards program, including: BC Excellence Scholarships, Achievement, Awards, District/Authority Awards and Pathway to Teacher Education

https://portal.scholarshippartners.ca/s_Login.jsp?&lang=1

Association of Universities and Colleges. Check out their Employer-sponsored programs. You need a COMPANY CODE to apply (usually obtained from the Human Resources Dept of the company that you or your parents work for)

<https://www.scholarshipscanada.com/>

Scholarships Canada. A national database of scholarships, bursaries and awards. You can create a profile so that scholarships are matched to you specifically.

SCHOLARSHIP ESSAYS:

<http://scholarshiptraining.ca>

A Definitive Guide to Winning Scholarships - a downloadable E-Book from Pearson College

<http://www.freeonlineresearchpapers.com/scholarship-essays>

Free online research papers

<https://www.e-education.psu.edu/writingpersonalstatementsonline/>

A handbook for students applying for scholarships & graduate study: e-education Institute